Remember All that Rain?

North Carolina Had a Bit More than that

By: Sam Kiesel

Remember how on Wednesday into Thursday we had some bad weather? North Carolina had worse weather. Actually the worst kind of weather. The tornado kind. The tornado was classified as a EF3 which if you didn't know, is a VERY bad tornado. This tornado in particular reached about 160 mph. The wind was howling and lightning was flashing everywhere I can't even imagine how scary it was. A few people were mildly injured but so far no one's missing. The tornado caused much cartilage to North Carolina and destroyed many buildings. Luckily, we only got mild effects from the tornado.

What Time is it? It's Time for a Psalm

This week's psalm is good ol' psalm 5.

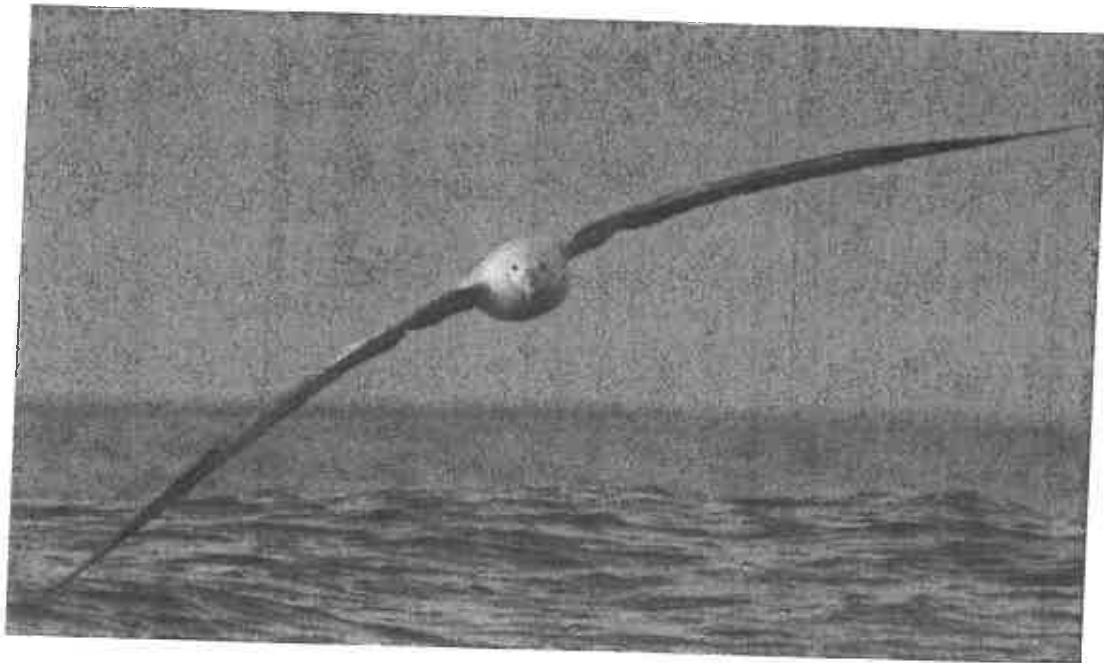

Give ear to my words, O Lord; consider my groaning. Give attention to the sound of my cry, my King and my God, for you do I pray. O Lord, in the morning you hear my voice; in the morning I prepare a sacrifice for you and watch. For you are not a god who delights in wickedness; evil may not dwell with you. The boastful shall not stand before your eyes; you hate all evildoers. You destroy those who speak lies; the Lord abhors the bloodthirsty and deceitful man. But I, through the abundance of your steadfast love, will enter your house. I will bow down toward your holy temple in the fear of you. Lead me, O Lord, in your righteousness because of my enemies; make your way straight before me. For there is no truth in their mouth; their inmost self is destruction; their throat is an open grave; they flatter with their tongue. Make them bear their guilt, O God; let them fall by their own counsels; because of the abundance of their transgressions cast them out, for they have rebelled against you. But let all who take refuge in

Albatrosses

Mammal

By Reese Corley

Albatrosses have extremely long wings! Their wingspan is 12 ft long! That's over double the size of me! I am 5ft tall ! WOW! To court Albatrosses stretch out their wings and dance around for their mates. Albatrosses soar on strong air currents over some open sea to save energy. They spend most of their time in the air except for mating season . Albatrosses live near water . Albatrosses are in the family of Diomedidae . They lay one egg every breeding season. They also live till up to 60 . They build their nests out of soil and plants to make a mound . Albatrosses are in a group of birds called "tube noses " because of their noses . To airborne they get a headwind by either running across land or jumping off a cliff . With a running start of course . They are very brave birds .

Weather Talk

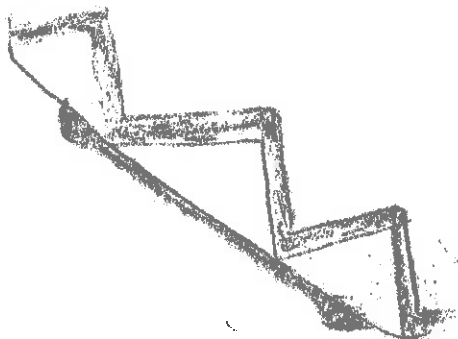

Pollen season is upon us, with very high tree pollen and a bit of grass pollen too. This combo may start sniffles and sneezes, and with covid we may have a lot of nervous people. This may be because they think those Spring sniffles could be Covid.
